EXPLOSION KILLS A MAN AND HORSES

MONT FOUTY BLOWN TO ATOMS
BY BIG CHARGE OF NITRO-GLYCERINE.

237 Quarts of the Deadly Stuff Lets Go
Two Miles From Louisa, While Being Removed From the Magazine by a Professional Well Shooter.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last Monday morning Monte Fouty, oil well shooter in the employ of the Southern Torpedo company, of Parkersburg, W. Va., was torn to pieces by the explosion of 237 quarts of nitroglycerine. The accident occurred at the magazine used by the company for storing the explosive demanded by the various oil wells in that neighborhood. Fouty left Louisa about six o'clock that morning, driving a two-horse team owned by James Vinson, livery man of this city. The horses were torn into fragments and nothing was left of the wagon except a few widely scattered pieces. The noise of the explosion was heard for many miles. But few persons had any idea what had caused it, and on account of the blasting that had been done on the N. & W. railroad a mile or so below town in removing a slip on the track it did not attract any special attention. Two or three persons in town, however, knowing of the glycerine being where it was, surmised the true cause of the terrible report and immediately left for the scene. Arriving at the place they at once knew from the absence of the magazine and the immense hole in the ground what had happened. Of the body of Mr. Fouty nothing hardly could be found. Here and there at widely scattered intervals was a fragment of human flesh showing what had happened. These remains were gathered together, making possibly a double handful, of what had been a robust man in the prime of life. They were brought to Louisa and placed in a casket, and accompanied as far as Huntington by undertaker Snyder, were shipped Monday night to Branchland, West Va., which was the last home of the deceased. Fouty lived in Louisa about three years ago, occupying what is known as the old M. E. Church parsonage. He was between 50 and 55 years of age and is survived by a widow and five children.

He was an excellent man in the business in which he was engaged, having been so employed for nearly 20 years. He had the reputation of being skillful and careful in his work. When he left here with the team in the morning it was his intention to take a load of the dangerous stuff to a well on the land of John Yates, a distance of some three or four miles from the scene of the explosion, where it was to have been used on Monday to shoot a well that had been drilled by the Big Blaine Oil company. The cause of the explosion, of course, is mere conjecture. The tracks of the wagon showed that it had been driven up to the magazine. The magazine was a box-like structure built of heavy boards. The effects of the explosion were manifested for a radius of several miles, windows being blown out and houses shaken. The magazine was on the land of Mr. Wallace, a part of the old Arnett farm, not far from the head of the Hargis Branch, some 2 1/2 or 3 miles by the road from Louisa. The house closest to the scene of the disaster was occupied by Wm. Ekers. Mr. Ekers was at the time hitching up a team of horses and he and both horses were thrown to the ground by the force of the explosion, but were not hurt. The size of the hole made by the nitroglycerine is variously estimated, one party saying it was big enough to hold the C. & O. depot of this place. Another says it is about 20 feet in diameter and five or six feet deep. The team was one that had made the trip on various occasions before and was a very valuable one, being worth, according to the estimate of its owner at least $400. It had frequently been driven by Dock Peterman of this place and it had been his intention to drive it out on this fateful morning, but he indicated to Mr. Fouty that he did not feel well enough to go Monday morning and remained in bed, and to this illness he probably owes his life. The scene of the disaster has been visited by hundreds of people. It was, the NEWS thinks, the first occurrence of the kind in this county and it is hoped a similar occurrence will never again happen.

"Mickey" Harris, an oil well pumper who lives near where the accident occurred, started from his home with Fouty, but his wife prevailed upon him to remain at home, and thus his life was saved.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG.
The City Council has passed an ordinance which requires that all dogs running at large must be muzzled. The ordinance makes it the duty of the Marshal to kill all unmuzzled dogs found on the streets.

The law should be strictly enforced.

Rev. L. E. McElowney is in the midst of a big revival meeting at Pikeville and the people there do not want him to come home for a few days yet. We can readily understand this, but he is missed at Louisa. At this writing it is not known whether he will return in time for services Sunday. The Pikeville meeting is largely attended and much good is being accomplished.

INJURED BY THE FALL OF AN ELEVATOR.

By a fall of a freight elevator in the Snyder Hardware establishment, formerly occupied by the Snyder Bros., on Tuesday morning two persons, George Picklesimer and Henry E. Evans, both of this city, were painfully and severely injured. They had been loading the elevator on the second floor with glass and other articles and were just about to step off the elevator when it fell to the first floor. Mr. Picklesimer was badly injured about the head. He was able to go to the hospital where it was found that the scalp had been badly lacerated and bruised on the left side of the head, making a very ugly wound. It was dressed by Dr. York and the injured man went home. His injury, which is very painful, will lay him up for some time, is not considered dangerous. The injuries sustained by Mr. Evans are very serious and may possibly make him a cripple for life. The left knee sustained a forward dislocation and the knee cap was cut loose from its attachment below the knee, altogether making the injury a very bad one to handle. The large ligament below the knee was cut entirely through, almost as cleanly as if it had been done by a knife. Mr. Evans thinks this was done by the violent contact of his leg with the edge of the box. His injuries were dressed by Drs. York and Bromley and the patient is doing as well as could possibly be expected. He passed a very bad night Tuesday, but is now resting somewhat more comfortably. It is supposed that the accident was caused by the loss or breaking of the pin somewhere in the machinery that controlled the running of the elevator.

HAY-CYRUS. Marriage of a Daughter of County Court Clerk.

Married, Tuesday, March 7, at the home of the bride, Miss Adeline Hay, daughter of the Rev. M. A. Hay, to Mr. Lindsay Cyrus, of Smoky Valley. Rev. N. H. Young, pastor of the M. E. Church, was the officiating minister. The bride is a very attractive and intelligent young woman. For a long time she had been the efficient deputy county clerk of the Lawrence county court, doing her work correctly and rapidly. She is a fine typewriter, accurate and quick. She will be greatly missed in the office and in the home where she was an affectionate daughter.

EIGHT NEW WELLS IN ESTILL

The past week has proved a record breaker in point of good completions and deals involving big sums of money. In fact, the eight wells completed since our last issue show good for 25 to 100 barrels. Perhaps the best well on the lot was drilled in by Rouff, Hupp & Duff, and showed a production of 100 barrels in 10 hours pumping. The wells completed the past week are located in various sections of the field, and the fact that not a single dry hole was scored is indeed encouraging to all.

TELEGRAPH OPERATOR MEETS INSTANT DEATH

W. H. MAGGARD ELECTROCUTED AT C. AND O. DEPOT AT PRESTONSBURG.

W. Harrison Maggard, a telegraph operator at Prestonsburg, employed by the C. & O. railway, was electrocuted at nine o'clock Wednesday night while on duty at the station. Death was instantaneous.

He was signalling a freight train by the use of an electric light suspended by a cord from the ceiling, holding the bulb in his left hand. At the same time he grasped a lever controlling the block signals. This lever was heavily charged with an electric current and in taking hold of it he completed a circuit which sent him into eternity.

The current evidently came from heavily charged wires crossed with those leading into the station, said to have been the line carrying the electric power supplied to Prestonsburg by the Consolidation Coal company's plant. The heavy storms probably displaced the line.

Maggard was a popular young operator, 27 years old and unmarried. He had worked at various points along the Big Sandy division during the past few years, but for five years has been located at Prestonsburg, where his father also lives. The family formerly lived at Harold, Ky.

Earlier in the day Wm. Bentley, a Huntington traveling salesman, leaned against the same block levers and was so badly shocked that physicians worked with him for an hour or more. He was able to return to Huntington, but is to-day reported to be suffering considerably.

TRIM YOUR FRUIT TREES WITHOUT DELAY

A VERY PRACTICAL AND TIMELY
ARTICLE FROM THE COUN-TY AGENT.

Louisa, Ky., March 9, 1916.
Editor Big Sandy News.

Dear Sir:—Every season of the year presents to the farmer a particular field of work, and his various products and profits are dependent upon the readiness with which he grasps the situation. Now is the time for the farmer to renovate the old orchard and to start the new one correctly.

Renovation usually falls under the following heads: Pruning, fertilizing, plowing and cultivating, cover crops, spraying. Pruning being of great importance I will treat of it briefly.

Pruning requires more study and a greater variation than any of the others. Each tree is going to be a problem by itself. Looking at it in this way the tree may be pruned normally, or it may be pruned severely, or it may be "dehorned," that is the top cut back severely. If the top is not over tall and there is not much dead wood in it then it should be given only a normal pruning. If the top is very high and there are very few water-sprouts lower down then the top ought to receive a severe pruning to start more water-sprouts in order that it may be dehorned later. It would be a mistake to dehorn at once, because there are not enough water-sprouts to take care of the food sent up by the roots.

It is a common mistake to dehorn trees which are really too good for such drastic treatment. If a tree has a reasonably good top it is much better to do the work gradually. The owner thus secures some return from his orchard each year and still the trees are improving all the time.

Having decided on which of the three types of treatment is to be meted out to the tree we begin our pruning. A safe rule to follow is to go over the entire tree and take out the dead wood so as to give a clear field for better judgment in taking out other limbs. Branches affected with blight should come out altogether. When such limbs have been removed the remaining branches should be pruned in such manner as to give the tree balance leaving all the fruit spurs possible for the future crop.

In this renovation work the operator has to be very careful about the wounds which are made in pruning. In particular, no stubs should be left, and all cuts should be painted or tarred over to facilitate the healing process.

All trees should now be sprayed with a lime-sulphur solution, which is a clean up spray preparatory to later spraying. It is the only thing that will put the trees in a healthy condition, and every person with a small orchard can well afford to spray. Barrel pumps can be purchased at very reasonable prices from most dealers. In buying a pump never get one with less than 100 pounds of pressure, 200 pound is better.

This subject can be expanded indefinitely but in conclusion to the farmer I wish to say, do not put off what you can do to-day in your orchard till tomorrow, for the unpruned tree, insects and fungi have no labor laws to govern working hours.

Very respectfully,
A. C. Y., County Agent.

THE MISSIONARY TEA.

The Missionary Tea given at the home of Miss Elizabeth Conley by the Young Peoples Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, last Saturday afternoon was a very pleasing and successful affair. The refreshments offered were very nice, daintily served, and highly enjoyed. The patronage given was quite liberal, a nice addition to the society's treasury being made.

DEATH OF MRS. RICE.

The remains were brought to the old home place near the mouth of Two Mile for burial, which was made Tuesday. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. H. B. Hewlett. Mrs. Rice had been sick for a long time in New Richmond, O., where they were living. Mr. Rice being employed on the dam at that place. She had been in the hospital since January. She leaves a husband and six children, the youngest being about a year and a half old. Mrs. Rice was the daughter of the late James Calvin Frazier, who died a few weeks ago. She was an excellent woman, being a good wife and mother.

THE JUVENILE MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given on last Friday evening by the Juvenile Missionary Society was a very delightful affair. The young people conducted themselves very well indeed, rendering in fine style a varied and beautiful program. It was under the able direction of Mrs. L. E. McElowney and the pleasing way in which those in her care rendered this program reflected great credit upon her as instructor and trainer. Each one who took a part in this entertainment conducted himself or herself so nicely that it would not be right to single out any one by words of praise. The exercises were well received by a large and highly pleased audience. Quite a neat little sum was the financial result of this affair. Miss Opal Spencer rendered valuable service in a musical way while Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., was useful in arranging for the entertainment.

A UNIQUE ELOPEMENT.

On last Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bowen were again terrified on finding that their daughter Lila, who had attempted an elopement some six weeks ago, with Mr. Cullie Meek, of Busseyville, Ky., was again missing. A search of the town was made after finding she had not boarded a train at the depot, but no trace of her could be found, until late in the afternoon when it was learned that the East Lynn local had in some mysterious way paused for a few moments a short distance from the station and a bent figure draped in deep mourning was helped up the steps. Then the mystery cleared. But by this time Lila was in Catlettsburg, where she met her lover. They took a train immediately for Louisa, where they were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, by Rev. Hay.

Lila is one of our most beautiful girls and is highly esteemed by all who know her.

Mr. Meek is the son of Fernando Meek, a prosperous farmer of Busseyville, Ky.—Wayne News.

MARTIN COUNTY.

Landrum Hale has been assigned to duty at the Huntington office of the United Fuel Gas company. He expects to move his family to the city within the near future.

Jasper H. Preece spent Saturday and Sunday at his home on Wolfe creek.

It is understood that the Federal Oil and Gas company is leasing extensively in this county. A well was drilled between Big Elk and Turkey creeks and reports have it that a good showing of oil was obtained. Competition for leases should result in bringing better terms to the land owners.

MIND UNBALANCED.

Mr. Geo. Dameron, of Stone was a business visitor in town Tuesday and while here received a message from Dunlow, Wayne-co., saying that his son G. C. Dameron had gone violently insane. DOWN BY A TRAIN NEAR HER HOME.

Mrs. Hereford Preston was killed near Paintsville Wednesday evening, by a train. She was the mother of Ben Preston, one of the telegraph operators at Paintsville station. Her husband died last summer. She was a good woman and her death brings deep sorrow to the community in which she lived.

A COUNTY MAP.

Mr. Laban Wallace, of this city, has just finished the best map of Lawrence county and vicinity ever made. It showed very plainly and correctly the location of every highway and water course in the county, giving their names, source and mouth.

The public roads and in many instances the private passways are marked so they can be recognized as such at a glance. Stores, churches and private residences, and every school house are on this map, properly located and named. The map was made from correct surveys made by Mr. Wallace, who is a competent surveyor, and is correct in every particular. It is a map which should be in every school house in the county so that the pupils could learn from it the physical geography of the county in which they live, something of which too many of them are entirely ignorant. Not only should the public school houses have a copy of this map, but it is a very good thing to have in ones house or place of business. Mr. Wallace has had quite a number of blue print copies made of this map and offers them for sale at the low price of one dollar each. The map is about a yard wide by 42 or 43 inches long, printed on heavy paper, and with proper care will last a long time. Those interested can see one of the maps in the NEWS office.

YANKEE.

DUMMY IS CUT DOWN BY BROTHER.

Jackson, Ky., March 4.—State Senator, Charles D. Arnett, of the Thirty-fourth district, was hanged in effigy to a telephone cable in front of the court house here early this morning.

A placard across the breast of the image strung up read: "Senator Charles D. Arnett, the Traitor."

The dummy was cut down by Senator Arnett's brother, Samuel Arnett, who saw it while he was on his way to his desk in the Hargis bank about eight o'clock.

The figure had many bullet holes in it. There is no clew to the persons who participated in the affair, but a large party of men was heard to cross the bridge about 2 o'clock this morning, and as there had been a lot of shooting down in the business part of town a short time earlier, it is supposed that the members of this band may know something about it.

Some dissatisfaction had been expressed here concerning Senator Arnett's attitude toward the creation of new judicial districts. He was in favor of making Wolfe and Breathitt county a new district, it was stated, and later, was said to have been an advocate of the movement making a district out of Wolfe, Morgan and Magoffin counties.

Senator Arnett is from West Liberty, and has been one of the most popular Democrats in the mountain country. He carried Breathitt in his race for the Senate by a majority of 1,310, the largest ever given a Democrat in any race in this county.

CRUDE OIL IS $1.85. Seven Cents Per Barrel Added to the Price in Kentucky.

The price of crude oil has received another advance. The Kentucky field now receives $1.85 per barrel, which is an increase of seven cents over the price of last week. It is predicted the price will reach $2.00. This belief is based upon the strong demand for gasoline and all oil products, and the fact that production is not keeping pace with the demand.

Drilling is expected to become very active in the Louisa field this spring.

A good well came in recently on T. H. Burchett's land and another on the Yates, farm on Blaine.

No hand work can be as accurate as Machine Work.
Our Shorthand Machine—the Stenotype—prints shorthand in just the same letters you learned when you were six years old. No hieroglyphics—just plain A, B, C, which anyone can read.
Have you seen it?
Well, you have something of interest still to see. Make your mind up to look into this little device to-day. It will pay you to do it.
Don't stand still. Don't go backwards. Remember what you said about the Adding Machine, a few years ago.
Write us about your wishes, your ambitions. You will not be the first boy or girl, by many hundreds we have helped solve the problem of "How to make a living."

Are you thinking of training for a profession or a trade?
We used to say "The quickest way to success in any profession is learning Shorthand." We still say so, but by all means learn it the "Machine Way."
Our School has added Shorthand Machines just as we added years ago. Typewriters, Adding Machines, Mimeographs. (And we have not forgotten to keep them MODERN), etc., because the Public demands new and up-to-date facilities for making the busy man's work easy.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.
In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.
To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! MAKE IT THICK
WAVY, GLOSSY AND BEAUTIFUL AT ONCE.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.
A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A 25-cent bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.
Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

Husband and Wife Both Saved From Suffering

I wish to tell you the good results myself and husband received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. About eleven years ago I had a severe attack of La Grippe and was confined to my bed about eight weeks under the doctor's care. He pronounced my case kidney trouble and rheumatism and not receiving the results from the doctor's treatment I should have received, I decided to try Swamp-Root. After taking several bottles of Swamp-Root I was able to get up and attend to my work. About a year later my husband was affected with a severe attack of kidney trouble and doctored for some time with the doctors and received no benefit. Knowing of the good I had received, he decided to try Swamp-Root. His condition was such that he was confined to his bed and words cannot tell how he suffered, but after taking Swamp-Root he was relieved so, he could go on with his work without pain. I wish to heartily recommend Swamp-Root to all persons afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and you may publish this letter if you wish.

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS.

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

A Faithful Friend.

Perhaps all dogs are not worthy of mention in our Home Circle Column, but as there is a dog in most homes, the following words from Lawyer Vest will cause you to be more patient with your canine friend if you have one.

Mr. Vest's speech in praise of the dog was made while attending court in a country town. He was prevailed upon to help the attorneys in a case where suit was brought for $200 for loss of a dog. The defense tried to show the dog had viciously attacked the defendant, while the plaintiff sought to prove the killing of the dog was an act of malice. Mr. Vest made no reference to the evidence. In a low voice he said:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter, that he has reared with loving care, may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads.

"The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will lick the wounds and sores that come from encounter with the roughness of the world, he guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is constant in his love as the sun in his journey thru the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight his enemies.

"And when the last scene of all comes and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

The jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $200.

Oh, if you would gather all the tender memories, all the lights and shades of the heart, all banquetings and reunions, all filial, fraternal, paternal and conjugal affections, and you had only just four letters with which to spell out that height, and depth, and length, and breadth, and magnitude, and eternity of meaning, you would, with streaming eyes, and trembling voice, and agitated hand, write it out in those four living capitals, H-O-M-E.

The Poor.

The cold weather of the week that is past has set us all to thinking of the poor. We wonder to how many of us the weary, dreary phrase of hopeless poverty is anything more than a romance. Sitting in our warm and comfortable homes, by pleasant fires with luxurious beds waiting to receive our well fed bodies, we can have no more comprehension of what grinding poverty means than an angel in the full glory of paradise can know of the deepest depths of hades. Think of it! No fuel. Absolutely none. No bed, but piled up rags; little children walling with cold and helpless hunger; closets bare as old Mother Hubbard's; smells that reach high heaven in their foulness. And in their depth of poverty, to which even our imaginations can scarcely descend lies a lurking curse like the wild beast in its lair. The sordidness of poverty eats out the soul of a man as a tiger drinks blood. Brutality, apathy, the cruelty of fiends, are begot when pride and ambition die utterly.

Home should be made the most interesting and best loved spot on earth, not merely four square walls of wood and brick; it should be the foundation of civilization, the very word should touch every fiber of the soul, and strike every cord of the human heart with its angelic fingers, a place where that is centralized on the higher and better things of life, bringing forth in the highways and byways an influence that will be felt by all with whom it comes in contact. It should be a place where the heart is a place where our feet may leave but not our hearts, a place where angels unfold their wings, the place we love best, because it is the place where mother is.

What is your weight in your home and social circle? Test it by considering how many pounds of good nature you have contributed to make your home and friends more cheerful. An ounce of sweetness will make you weigh more at home than a pound of undue harshness or of forgetfulness.

LOOK AT A CHILD'S TONGUE WHEN CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK.

TAKE NO CHANCES! MOVE POISONS FROM LIVER AND BOWELS AT ONCE.

Mother can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Old newspapers for sale at this office.

"CASCARETS" BEST IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, SICK, CONSTIPATED

BEST FOR LIVER AND BOWELS, BAD BREATH, BAD COLDS,
SOUR STOMACH.

Get a 10-cent box.
Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.
Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.
Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.
A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months.

MRS. GRUMP.

IN MEMORY.

Death visited the home of J. N. Roberts and took from them their loving daughter, Ivory, on Feb. 16, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m. She was sick some few years but when the death angel said she should no longer live she sank peacefully to rest with a bright and loving smile on her face. All her suffering is over, gone to her best reward, her better home where toil and care are known to more. She called her relatives all one by one to her bedside and told them all to meet her in heaven. She warned her many friends in her sleep of death, told them to read the 12th chapter of St. Luke and also the 12th chapter of Romans.

The people of the whole country visited her through her illness. At her death they mourned the loss of their friend. She is gone but not forgotten and by the promise of our Savior we will meet again in the sweet bye and bye, but God in his wisdom doeth all things well. He has placed her in that heavenly home and says friends and relatives prepare and look up to meet Ivory, she will be watching and waiting at the beautiful gate for you. A few hours before she died she wanted her brother to play the piano and sing and he played and she sang "What a friend we have in Jesus." Her sickness was long but she seemed to have been in the state of readiness. She had sweet communion with Jesus and met loved ones who were waiting to welcome her home to rest in the kingdom of God.

Efficiency

Efficiency built the Panama Canal, after inefficiency failed. The efficiency of the Panama Canal doubled the effectiveness of the U. S. Navy without adding a ship to it. It took over 8,000 miles out of the trip from New York to San Francisco and changed the highway between London and Australia from Suez to Panama.

Efficiency insures against lost motion—it produces the utmost service out of equipment and yields the finest product, at the least cost.

Certain-teed

Roofing

is an efficiency product

Every advantage that men, money and machinery can offer is used to increase the production, maintain the quality and lower the cost. Each of the General's enormous mills is advantageously located to serve the ends of efficient manufacture and quick distribution. Each is equipped with the most up-to-date machinery. Raw materials are purchased in enormous quantities and far ahead of the needs of manufacturing, thus guarding against increased cost due to idle machinery. This also insures favorable buying, and the pick of the market.

Expert chemists at each mill are employed to select and blend the asphalts, and every roll of CERTAIN-TEED is made under their watchful care.

CERTAIN-TEED resists the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing, because the felt is thoroughly saturated with a blend of soft asphalts, prepared under the formula of the General's board of expert chemists. It is then coated with a blend of harder asphalts, which keeps the inner saturation soft. This makes a roofing more pliable, and more impervious to the elements than the harder, drier kind.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). Experience proves that it lasts longer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

WM. TAYLOR, of Glenwood, announces that he will be a candidate for Sheriff of Lawrence county, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the next primary election at which candidates for Sheriff are to be nominated.

We are authorized to announce Congressman W. J. FIELDS, of Carter-co., as a candidate for re-election, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the primary to be held in August, 1916. Your support is respectfully solicited.

Friday, March 10, 1916.

Langley and Powers, Kentucky Congressmen, true to their partisanship, were among the few insurgents in Congress who voted against maintaining the rights of American citizens on the high seas. A considerable majority of the Republican members voted for the United States in the crisis that presented itself to Congress this week.

Congress, regardless of party lines, this week gave President Wilson a sweeping majority in his request for their support in his contention with European countries. A few unpatriotic fellows in Congress had made enough noise against the President's foreign policies to encourage Germany and England in the belief that his action in standing for the rights of our citizens was not backed by the sentiment of Congress. Europe knows better now. Those warring countries have indisputable evidence now as to where this country stands. It was a great victory for the President.

TUSCOLA.

The sudden changes in the weather have brought a train of evils in the way of colds, coughs, lagrippe and pneumonia.

Mrs. Kittle Jordan was quite sick Sunday.

The stork made a pleasant visit to Bill Dean's Saturday night and left a fine boy. It is wonderful what a smile Bill wears.

J. H. Frasher went to Fallsburg Saturday and returned Sunday without his hounds.

George Fraley was at Oliville on business Sunday.

A. M. Watson took a fine drove of mules to West Va. for use in the mines and general work last week.

Milt is dealing quite extensively in mules.

Adlai Jordan defied the mud and went to Dennis Sunday.

Luther Cunningham caught a fine groundhog one day last week.

Ben Vanover's little child is quite sick. She has scrofula of the neck and is suffering very much.

Charley Rice is the latest huckster on the road. He passes every Saturday.

James Prichard traded his fine mare to two young mules last week. He now has four young mules.

Richard Queen, a farmer resident and teacher of this county but now a citizen of Portsmouth, O., was here last week representing Joseph G. Reed Co., of Portsmouth. Mr. Queen stopped to see his father Isaac Queen while here.

Merchants are not buying many goods now on account of the roads. They are very, very bad in places and men will not risk their teams on the road.

We have just read a decision of the Appellate Court where a majority vote is all that is needed to vote bonds to build roads. Good decision think we.

YOUR FRIEND,

IT MUST BE TRUE.

LOUISA READERS MUST COME TO THAT CONCLUSION.

It is not the telling of a single case in Louisa, but a number of citizens testify. Endorsement by people you know bears the stamp of truth. The following is one of the public statements made in Louisa about Doan's Kidney Pills:

George Waldeck, tailor, Cross St., Louisa, says: "My kidneys were irregular in action and the kidney secretions were unnatural. My back ached, Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the pain and regulated the kidney action."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Waldeck had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WELL-KNOWN KENTUCKY WOMAN SPEAKS.

A BOON TO WOMANKIND.

Wales, Ky.—"I take great pleasure in announcing to the public the great benefits I received from the use of Dr. Pierce's medicines."

I had that dreadful disease, woman's trouble, which caused such bearing-down pains, burning sensation, and dull feeling in my head that I became a nervous wreck. I had five doctors to treat me, all to no avail. I had given up to die and to leave my dear husband and five little girls to the mercy of this world, when at last my husband begged me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I weighed 118 pounds when I began their use. I used 18 bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four or five boxes of 'Lotion Tablets.' At the end of the treatment I was well and weighed 163 pounds."

Mrs. RACHEL TACKETT.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth that keeps the female system regulated and in condition.

Mothers, if your daughters are weak, lack ambition, are troubled with headaches, lassitude and are pale and sickly, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just what they need to surely bring the bloom of health to their cheeks and make them strong and healthy.

LETCHER COUNTY AND WHITESBURG.

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

WHITESBURG, KY., March 8.—The will of the late Ira Fields former commonwealth's attorney and leading mountain man who died February 25, in the Norton Memorial Infirmary of appendicitis was probated in Letcher county court here Monday. He leaves an estate valued at about $40,000, with $10,000 life insurance. Felix G. Fields his oldest son becomes administrator of the estate.

County Judge Henry T. Day is holding a very important term of county court this week with a number of cases to be tried. The court will continue the most of the week. Following Judge Day will call a session of the Fiscal Court for the purpose of working out plans as to good road work and the calling of an election for voting of bonds. It is expected that the election will be set down for sometime in May.

A pretty wedding took place here a few days ago when Mr. Howard Blanton, aged 17, son of Dora Tackett was married after a brief courtship to Miss Maggie Bates, aged about 14, the daughter of the late B. M. Bates. They will reside at Sergeant.

One of the most interesting elopements took place in this county last week, when Miss Myrtle Pendleton, 17 years old, daughter of Joe D. Pendleton a Colly creek farmer walked six miles over rough roads to join her lover, Richard Herald, 35, blind musician at Cowan creek, after which they eloped across Cumberland and Black Mountains into Wise-co., Va., where they were married.

Parental objections of the most serious kind brought about the elopement which caused a wide sensation. The Pendleton girl was the most prominent young woman in the county.

The third serious freight wreck to occur on the L. & N. within ten days occurred near Chavies below here Saturday when seven coal cars were smashed and the track damaged a considerable distance. All traffic was tied up during the day, although transfers were made of express, passenger and mail. The L. & N. it seems are hard hit of late.

At Jenkins a few days ago Miss Pearl Boggs, 17, operator in the telephone exchange, daughter of Engineer John H. Boggs and a popular young woman, a recent winner of a prize in the Paintsville Herald's contest, was married to Mr. Estes Thornberry, aged 23, of Dickenson-co., Va. They will reside in Jenkins.

Peter Adams, aged 19, young teacher of this county was married a few days ago to Miss Polly Polley, aged 15, daughter of J. F. Polley of Pert creek. Marriage license were issued during the week as follows: Travis Newsome, 22, to Miss Vanie McRay, 18; Isaac Sexton, 20, to Sarah Bowers, 22; Leander Watts, 26, to Charlotte Day, 25; Stephen Whitaker, 22, to Mary Banks, 21.

Some of the most severe winds to strike this section in months prevailed practically all the afternoon and night Monday doing much damage to telephone and telegraph lines, pailings, fencing, etc., while in some section quite a lot of valuable timber was blown down and uprooted.

Attorney D. E. Allen of Big Stone Gap, Va., formerly of Whitesburg is here employed in abstracting by a big corporation in the east who plan some developments in this section. Mr. Allen will be here for some time.

WHITESBURG, KY., March. 7.—Louis Pilcher, writer and historian, of Chicago who is making a strong campaign against the illegal traffic, sale and use of whiskey, fostering a Progressive Pledge Temperance Campaign in Whitesburg and Letcher county is reaching out into the country after securing one hundred or more life pledges in and around Whitesburg. He is billied this week to make addresses in Fleming, Seco and Neon in the coal fields of this county, where, at the latter place there has been considerable whiskey traffic within the last few months, resulting in the last grand jury making many indictments. Mr. Pilcher promises an interesting program for the three places, and it is expected that large crowds will be on hand. There is much interesting manifest in Mr. Pilcher's work, and it is known his efforts will be fruitful of good results. Let us hope there's a better day dawning for Letcher county, when the curse of strong drink and the other vices will be known no more.

The Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co. has linemen between Whitesburg and McRoberts in the coal fields completing the work of putting up cross arms, straightening the poles of the railroad company, etc., preparatory for the early stringing of the Cumberland wires into the coal fields. Following this work the wires will connect giving long distance connection with the whole outside world. The coming of the Cumberland's lines into the coal fields section will fill a long felt want and prove a great convenience to our business interests. It is understood that the lines will be extended on from McRoberts via Jenkins into Pikeville. From Shelby station via Elkhorn City, "The Breaks" and so on to points in Southwestern Virginia and East Tennessee, forming very important connections.

A very important term of the Letcher Quarterly Court is in session here this week with Judge Henry T. Day presiding. A number of important cases are to be disposed of. During the week the fiscal court will also hold an important session looking toward good road work in Letcher county, and the early calling of an election for voting bonds for the further prosecution of good roads work. Other counties in Eastern Kentucky are following Letcher's example of building good roads and a number of elections are to be held within the next sixty days.

Harlan county is making preparations to start off on the work of road building in the near future, having sold her bonds to a Cincinnati concern.

A party of railroad officials, aboard a special train over the Louisville & Nashville, including B. M. Starks, Supt. Traffic department, M. Seargeant, Supt. Transportation and others, went over the L. & E. branch during the week on a trip of inspection. They found the entire roadbed of the North Fork extension in splendid condition and said they will recommend that about April 1, the putting on of a through train between McRoberts and Louisville the metropolis of the State, the train to leave each end about 6 o'clock in the evening, making the distance in about nine hours. The special train will carry a sleeper, dining car, in fact everything up to the minute.

It will prove a great convenience. Preparatory to handling the vast amount of coal soon to be coming out of the big coal fields of Letcher county it is stated here that the L. & N. is soon to place extremely heavy engines, the heaviest in the country, on the road to facilitate the shipments which has heretofore been handicapped by small engines. Coal mining is rapidly assuming mammoth proportions all over Eastern Kentucky with plans for continued increases.

IN MEMORY.

On last Saturday night, March 4, 1916, at 9 o'clock the dark banner waved over the home of Mr. David Hughes and called for its victim his son, Charley Jay, aged 25 years, 4 months and 4 days. The funeral services were conducted at the church on Monday by the Revs. Hulet and Hulet. Later the remains were laid to rest in the Pigeon burial ground. His death was caused by that dreadful disease, tuberculosis. Charley said he was going to rest where he would meet his mother, brother and two sisters. We know, dear friends, it was hard to part with Charley, but how soothing the words are, "I'll soon be at rest."

Charley will be greatly missed in our community. He leaves a father, step-mother and six half brothers and sisters and a host of friends to mourn the loss. All was done that loving hands could do, but was all in vain. Charley can not come back to you but you can go to meet him. E. H. B.

FRANK LOCKWOOD.

Born Lockwood, Ky., November 3, 1873, died Cincinnati, O., February 19, 1916.

"Frank Lockwood is dead." This message, unexpected, fraught with grief, flashed over the wires from Cincinnati early in the morning of Saturday, February 19, 1916.

No longer may we enjoy or draw support from his strong and delightful personality. No longer may we avail ourselves of his unselfish courtesy and ripe judgment. We shall not see again his clean-cut features or feel the warm grasp of his friendly hand. He has gone out from among us, not to return.

Yet, can we not truthfully say that he still lives, not only in the grateful memories of those who enjoyed the out-pouring of his kindness and generosity, and there are many such, but also and in even a truer sense, in the hearts of those who through the privileged intimacies of friendship learned partly to know and wholly to love him. His loss is irreparable, but the fine flower of his nature shall neither fade nor lose its fragrance.

CONGRESSMAN W. J. FIELDS.

In the NEWS this week appears the announcement of Congressman Fields for re-election. He is asking recognition from the Democratic party for his faithful services at Washington. He has stuck faithfully to his duties at all times, and has given prompt attention to every call from his constituents. He is always sober and dependable, industrious and alert. He has had the experience necessary to render good service and has been in Congress long enough to acquire the standing that can be attained only by being sent back repeatedly by a constituency.

The following have enrolled in the Normal Department of K. N. C. within the past few days:

Bertha Hawkins, Willie Hawkins and Oscar Pauley, of Pike-co.; Mona Howell and Troy Allen, of Floyd-co.; Elsie Kazee, of Lincoln-co. This is the last week of the first term and the prospect is good for next term.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

On Thursday of this week Mrs. Fred Litteral, of Thacker, W. Va., submitted to two operations, both of which were successful. One was for relief from a trouble of long standing and the other was for acute appendicitis. Both were done under the one anaesthesia.
The patient is doing very well.

W. S. TAYLOR.

It is unimaginable that at this late day William S. Taylor, of Indiana, would run any risk of bodily harm in any county in Kentucky. But had he any sense of the fitness of things he would not revisit in the glimpses of the moon the scenes of the bloody events of 1900.

It was a pretty general belief that when the Republicans nominated Augustus Wilson there was an understanding that if he should be elected he would turn Powers and Howard at large and pardon the refugee Taylor.
He did what was expected of him.
When Powers went to Congress he did what he had planned for a long time, in the event of a Republican victory bringing him liberty. "Jim" Howard became inconspicuous, but it is not in the Powers blood to be inconspicuous
if it is possible to be otherwise. Taylor will not attempt again to become a Kentuckian. But if he knew just how he stands with his own party nowadays, as well as others, he would stick rather closely to Indiana soil and avoid newspaper publicity.—State Journal.

ied home by Miss Hermia Marcum, of CHOTEAU, OKLA.

I will write another letter as I was a Lawrence county boy and lived near Fallsburg and it has been something like a year since I wrote. I suppose there would be several that would like to hear from out here. The other letter I wrote I got so many letters from parties it was impossible for me to answer them all, but tried to answer the most important ones. It has been very cold out here this winter. I don't think there will be over half a crop of wheat on account of hard freezes. There was lots of corn raised out here last year but the people lost all of their wheat and oats on account of wet weather and we lost all of ours. I have just been over to Rose, Okla. to see uncle Jim Grubb. He is getting along fine. He has several head of cattle and hogs. I got several letters asking about land in Oklahoma to homestead.
There is no land in Oklahoma to homestead. We have decided to sell our farm and go to Colorado this spring and take up a homestead. Now if there is anybody back there ever expects to homestead this will be their best and last chance. There is a new railroad running through this section of country. It has been reserved for ten years from homesteads and will be opened up this spring for filing. This is in Moffett and Routt counties, northwestern Colorado on the western slope and a milder climate than on the eastern side. This part will raise any kind of crops. You can file on Smoke river where you can get 160 acres where you can irrigate or you can file on upland and get 320 acres. Now if any one is interested in this they can send for a copy of the Great Divide, Denver Col.

They would be glad to furnish it as they are getting up a colony of one thousand settlers to go on this the first of June and the first choice will always be best.

If there is anybody that wants to know anything about this country they can write to my father, G. H. Skeens, and if any girls want to write they can write to me.

I remain, yours truly,
STANTON S. SKEENS.

Woman's World

Newly Elected Treasurer of
New York State Suffrage Party.

MRS. OGDEN MILLS REID.

"Ever since I was a girl at Barnard college," says Mrs. Reid, "I have had the feeling that life outside the home was incomplete without woman's direct contribution to the making of public affairs. This is an age of specialization, and if women specialize in anything it is in a sense of the value of human life.

"This idea of conserving life as the best investment any state can make is needed in political affairs. I believe in all the other arguments for enfranchising women, but this seems to me the most urgent. Woman's own specialties, those things which make up her peculiar province, such as guardianship of home and children and her better knowledge of housekeeping, are needed to make up a good world for men and women just as much as man's knowledge of business and finance is needed. Men have surely realized that women have had success in their own province. Why should they deny the world the value of this special skill? This great mass of influence and expert knowledge could be used for mankind. It should be so used."

Born in Appleton, Wis., Mrs. Reid is a true western woman. She has the point of view which sees the United States as stretching from coast to coast and not as a thin line along the Atlantic seaboard. As one who has herself been a wage earning woman she believes in woman's economic independence. "I certainly hope my daughter will have this same wholesome experience, for I believe every girl should be given the chance to earn her own living," she says.

She voices the newer call for woman's political freedom not alone because women are denied a privilege when the ballot is withheld from them, but because the world needs the enfranchisement of its women and because politics as well as domestic life needs her point of view.

Spring Cues.

Blouses formed of net, either used singly or double, are most charmingly dainty. They are severely tailored or made with ruffles and frills.

Chiffon hems on faille frocks are finished with overlapping folds of the faille.

An oblong pleated piece of chiffon was attached to the underside of the seams of a dark blue faille and chiffon frock.

Sleeves are full below the elbow and in many cases flowing, with undersleeves that are often of extreme daintiness.

How are the women of spring to disguise themselves—for during the winter it was a wise husband who could recognize his wife at a little distance. The chin-chin collar hid her chin and mouth, while the small, close fitting hat hid all her hair and even obliterated one eye. So, given one eye, one had to recognize one's fashionable friends. Of course, if feet and ankles are individual enough—and goodness knows, some are—one had a generous view of the latter.

Corsets continue to hug the waist, are still short on the hips and the bust remains medium in height. Even if the waist is to be smaller do not order a smaller corset to obtain this effect, for it will not only not wear well, but will be uncomfortable. The same effect can be obtained by getting a corset of your own size that is cut to fit in at the waist.

Fashion Hint.

Evening dresses are sleek! Sometimes the sleeves are mere wisps, 'tis true, but yet they cover to an extent milady's pretty shoulders and make them even prettier for the evening. A few evening dresses will be sleeveless, but they will be the exception. The 1800 drop shoulder is also forcing itself upon fashionable notice, and a few extreme evening gowns show its charming lines.

Shrimp Salad.

Chop shrimp with celery, if large, and add a little onion. Place in a salad dish and pour over it mayonnaise made very thin and garnish with sliced boiled eggs, sliced lemon, beets and celery tops. It may be served on lettuce leaves if preferred.

A POPULAR DESIGN.

Jersey Cloth is in the Lead Both
For Street Wear and Sports.

SMART AS THEY COME.

This silk jersey suit is in deep tan color, with brown gilded leather for cuffs, collar and pocket lids. The stringy belt and novelty buttons give a natty finish. A simple tan straw sailor goes with the suit, which is one of the spring's successes.

A CASE OF NERVES?

Is Crossness a Mood or Inherent in Just Things?

Every woman, young and old, knows what it is to have cross days—days when, from the rising up of the sun to the going down of the same, every mortal thing seems to go wrong, no matter how hard one tries to have them go right. For that matter, one always does try harder on such days than on the happy-go-lucky ones when life flows on smoothly and harmoniously, like "a grand, sweet song." Goodness knows, there is enough conscientious effort wasted on a single cross day to balance half a year of ordinary days.

Why is this? Is crossness a disorder of the mind or an overwrought condition of the nerves or simply the reflection of an inexplicable but unanimous "crossedness" on the part of things in general? And if it be any or all of these is there any way of preventing or overcoming it? Crossness, like most other conditions of life, is the inevitable effect of a perfectly natural cause. Good humor, like fine weather, cannot possibly last forever. If it could it would inevitably become an intolerable bore. Being eternally pleasant and agreeable is all right theoretically, but it is a terrible strain on the nerves.

It is dreadfully wearing, too, on other people. Did you ever have to live in the same house with somebody who was always placid, always even tempered, no matter who else was worried and distraught? And were you not sometimes seized with an unholy yearning to do something perfectly awful and fiendish, that you might for once startle that placid being out of his or her maddening imperturbability?

Dates With Lemon Jelly.

Soak one-half a box of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water for about twenty minutes. Dissolve in two and one-half cupfuls of boiling water and add one cupful of sugar and the juice of two lemons. Strain and half fill a mold and set on ice. When almost firm, drop on the dates, which have been stoned and stuffed with blanched almonds. Add the rest of the jelly to fill the mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Waffles With Maple Syrup.

Two cupfuls of flour sifted twice with one teaspoonful of baking powder and the same of salt, three eggs, one tablespoonful of butter and two cupfuls of milk. Beat the yolks smooth, add the milk and turn this upon the prepared flour. Whip lightly and quickly for one minute, add the stiffened whites and drop by the spoonful into heated and greased waffle irons.

A Jabot From a Collar.

Another use for the flat Dutch collar of value is to make it into a jabot. This will require no cutting at all. The collar should be gathered or plaited at the center of the back and the two pointed ends turned directly underneath. It is then hung from the front of a stock collar. Of course a soft collar of lace or lace trimmed batiste will fill in this purpose best.

The Chenoworth Baronetcy

It Was Lost and Was Revived

By F. A. MITCHEL

When James Chenoworth, having lost both father and mother, decided to sell the homestead and go abroad for awhile he sat himself down to examine a large number of papers that had been accumulating for many years. Indeed, there were documents among them that dated back more than two centuries. There was a tradition in the family that the first Chenoworth in America had been a soldier of King Charles under Prince Rupert and, when the Protector Cromwell prevailed, had come to America to make a new home for himself.

The family documents were kept in what was called a hair trunk, from being covered with the skin of some animal from which the hair had not been removed. James Chenoworth spent many hours over the contents of the trunk, reading the papers. In time he took up a paper which he unfolded. It was a fragment yellow with age. The ink was also faded and almost illegible. James put it in his pocket, intending to try to decipher it later, for words in it which he could easily read seemed to refer to his ancestors. What he ultimately made out was this:

"At the beginning of the parliamentary wars James Chenoworth, son and heir of Sir Ralph Chenoworth, out to fight for the king. His Arthur, two years his junior, joined the parliamentary forces. The brothers were enough. At the end of the war having been lost, went to America. his home and When the Chenoworth James. worth Chenoworth

Chenoworth resolved that during his travels he would visit England and hunt up his ancestral record. Placing the fragment in his portmanteau, he made his preparations and in due time went abroad. At a hotel in Switzerland, where he found a mixture of English and Americans, he fell in with an English family named Smith-

son. The main attraction in this family was Miss Gladys Smithson, a girl about twenty years old. Both she and Chenoworth were fond of winter sports, and they were where they could enjoy them to perfection. Miss Smithson was the only child of her parents, and Chenoworth learned that through her mother she was an heiress. Since he possessed an income of barely $2,000 a year, he repressed any desire he felt to make love to the young lady.

This was fortunate, for Miss Smithson's mother, who had an interest in her daughter's adding to rather than dividing her prospective fortune, not suspecting that there was any special interest between the two young persons, made no objection to their being together, and when they separated she invited Chenoworth when he came to England to call upon them at their home in that country. Perhaps neither Chenoworth nor Miss Smithson realized the delicate bond that had been slowly forming between them till the moment of separation came. Gladys gave him her hand at parting, and he held it just a trifle longer than at an adieu between mere friends. Miss Smithson looked at the floor. Chenoworth looked into her face, then released her hand and turned away.

He met many young women on his travels, but none of them caused him to banish from a spot very near to his heart the image of Miss Smithson. He had planned a trip to Russia, but, bearing in his memory the image of his companion in Switzerland, he shrank from a visit to that cold country and resolved to forego the trip and give himself more time in England.

When Chenoworth arrived in London he sent his card to the Smithsons at their ancestral home in the county of Kent, with the result that he received an invitation to visit them for a week end. As he was driven into the place between two imposing gateway pillars and up to the manor house, through an avenue arched with trees that had been hundreds of years growing, his heart sank within him, for he realized that an American with a beggary two thousand a year could never aspire to the hand of the girl who would inherit such a splendid home.

Whether Mrs. Smithson had discovered in her daughter a disposition to pine for Chenoworth and scented danger, certain it is that the mother received him without the cordiality he expected. Her daughter, on the contrary, welcomed him with a mingling of pleasure and embarrassment. During his brief visit there were moments of exquisite pleasure for both him and Gladys, succeeded by moments of depression. There was a union of hearts, but they were constantly reminded that any other union was impossible.

When Chenoworth was making this visit, one afternoon while Gladys was engaged, he was entertained by her mother. He mentioned the fact that his ancestors had come from England and his discovery of the fragment among his family papers. The lady was doing some kind of knitting while he was talking to her, on which she kept her eyes, but Chenoworth noticed that as he passed from one point to another she was becoming deeply interested. Finally she asked abruptly to see the fragment to which he had referred. Taking it from his portmanteau, he handed it to her.

For some time her eyes were bent upon it, while the American's were bent upon her. Evidently there was something in this bit of yellow paper, torn in half, that moved her profoundly. She handed it back to him without remark, but he noticed a slight tremor of her hand as she did so. Presently, evidently nervously, she asked:

"Mr. Chenoworth, do you intend to look up your ancestry while in England?"

She awaited his reply with suppressed emotion.

"That is my intention," he replied. "But I don't know where to begin."

There was no reply to this. Later Miss Smithson reappeared, and the two young persons went out into the grounds together.

Chenoworth was to return to London the next morning. What was his surprise before going to bed to be asked by Mrs. Smithson to remain longer. He replied that nothing stood in the way of his doing so, and his departure was deferred. Mrs. Smithson's treatment of him seemed to be undergoing a change, though she did not seem to have made up her mind with regard to his attentions to her daughter. On the second day after her interview with him during which he had showed her the fragment she asked him to let her see it again. He did so, and she asked him if he would object to giving her a copy of it. He at once complied with her request.

The next day Mrs. Smithson announced that she must go to London to do some shopping. She charged her daughter to take good care of the guest during her absence, which was entirely unnecessary, for it was evident that Miss Gladys was as much enamored of Chenoworth as he was with her. The lovers were in a seventh heaven during the mother's absence, which lasted several days.

Chenoworth was puzzled. Why did Mrs. Smithson leave him with her daughter during this interval? Why had she changed in her treatment of him? There was no explanation. On her return the mystery deepened. She would not hear of Chenoworth's departure, saying that she was planning some social functions at which she desired his presence.

Chenoworth was beside himself. His attentions to Gladys were very noticeable, and her mother was encouraging them. She had no information concerning his standing in America nor as to his income, which, it was evident from his careful expenditures, was not large. Why, then, was she giving him every opportunity to win her daughter when that daughter might make a very advantageous match?

Chenoworth was anxious to hunt up the records of his ancestry, and he realized that to do this he must go to London. Gladys had told him that he had better go to an office of heraldry. But whenever he proposed to depart Mrs. Smithson objected, and he deferred his going.

And so it was that Chenoworth kept putting off his departure until one evening, while out on the terrace with Gladys, under the moonlight, he told her that he loved her, but he knew that owing to his limited means a marriage with her was impossible.

Then they conferred together upon what Mrs. Smithson meant by encouraging this match, but as neither of them knew they simply wondered. It was finally agreed between them that Chenoworth should learn what was in store for them by asking for Gladys's hand.

He approached Mr. Smithson with doubt and fear. He was given to understand that if he was acceptable to the daughter he would be acceptable to the parents. This thrilled him, and he went to Gladys with the good news at once. At a subsequent interview he gave Mr. Smithson a statement of his financial affairs, to which the gentleman listened with respectful attention, but made no comment. If Chenoworth's mind had not been taken up with love, curiosity would have come in to claim its share of attention.

Chenoworth did not leave the manor house till he departed on his wedding journey. When he returned he was saluted by his mother-in-law and every one else as Sir James. When the first excitement attending the couple's return had worn off Chenoworth was informed of what had been going on during his courtship.

Mrs. Smithson had inherited her estate through the female branch of Chenoworths. She was aware that the heir to the title had two centuries before disappeared in America. On receipt of a copy of Chenoworth's fragment she had taken it to a herald of arms in London, and they had given her the following reading of it when complete:

"At the beginning of the parliamentary wars James Chenoworth, son and heir of Sir Ralph Chenoworth, went out to fight for the king. His brother, Arthur, two years his junior, joined the parliamentary forces. The two brothers were enough alike to be twins. At the end of the war, the king's cause having been lost, James Chenoworth went to America. Arthur returned to his home and succeeded to the title. When the restoration came James Chenoworth had died, leaving a son, John. The sons of James Chenoworth are the rightful heirs to the Chenoworth title and estates."

Mrs. Smithson's action was explained. By taking James Chenoworth for a son-in-law she revived the baronetcy and secured for her daughter the estates which were legally his.

Kentuckian Robbed

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 17.—Word reached here that Edward Noland, who recently had been awarded $11,000 for damages sustained in a railroad accident, had been robbed of almost the entire amount at his home near Eubanks, Ky., last night.

Noland had just collected the money, and after paying his attorney had taken it home with him and placed it under his pillow. He and his family were chloroformed while asleep, the report says.

If he had put his money in our Bank he would not have lost it.

TIE PRICES RAISED.

Mr. Adam Venters of Regina, this county, the well known cross tie merchant for the C. & O. and Pennsylvania systems, last week announced an increase of three cents in the price of ties, the quotations now being 46 and 56 stacked on the right-of-way, and 48 and 58 loaded on the car. Mr. Venters has spent two months at hard work trying to secure a better price for the producers of ties in the Sandy Valley, and the success of his efforts was announced by telegram from Richmond. He spent last Saturday and Sunday at Pikeville and left Monday morning for Jenkins and other points in that territory. He also went to Dante, Va., this week on his usual round of business and expects to return here today or tomorrow.

Mr. Venters firmly believes the B. & O. intends to open its grade work this spring if the diplomatic discussion between the U. S. and Germany can be settled definitely without the possibility of war. Railroads are in no position to build during war times, he said, because all business is then demoralized. With the settlement of the submarine dispute he thinks the B. & O. will begin its grade work on the route to Shelby.

CAMP FIRE CLUB.

The Camp Fire Club, which is an organization among the girls of Pikeville College, is now doing some splendid work under the direction of Miss Alice Johnston, its organizer. The following account of its work and purpose was contributed by one of its youngest members.

Some of the girls of Pikeville College have recently organized a Camp Fire Group, with Miss Alice Johnston as Guardian. This Camp Fire has within the last two months affiliated with the National Organization, which is an organization of girls and women to develop the home spirit, promote happy social life and wholesome athletics. It has beautiful ceremonies and bases rank and honor on personal attainment. There are attractive ceremonial costumes, honor beads and decorations. Many of the girls in the local Camp Fire have already completed the honors which entitle them to first rank, which is "Wood-Gatherer." Weekly meetings of social and ceremonial nature are held at the homes of the different members. The present members are:

Misses Stella Ratcliff, Elizabeth Sowards, Elizabeth Daves, Bessie Owen, Bessie Riddle, Lottie Mae Rogers, Nancy Pauley, Minerva Scott, Sallie Vickers, Mary Elizabeth Michael, Thelma Morgan and Josephine Bowles.

FLANERY CASE RESULTS IN HUNG JURY.

A hung jury was the result of the trial of W. E. Flanery, former County Superintendent of Schools, charged with the killing of Dr. L. Q. Thornbury.

The case was opened in the Pike Circuit Court last Wednesday, with a long list of witnesses present and also a brilliant array of legal counsel on both sides. After the speeches of six of the attorneys the court delivered the case to the jury with instructions shortly before noon Saturday. At the close of the day the jury had not reached a decision, and they were held over Sunday in the hopes that they would make up a verdict. On Monday morning, however, the foreman announced that no decision had been reached, and the jury was discharged. The case will be held for trial again at the May term, and Mr. Flanery was released under bond of $5,000.

OWENS STORE TAKES TRIVETTE STAND.

The general store of Patrick Owens on College-st. will be moved at once to the stand on Main-st. formerly occupied by the Trivette Grocery Co., the latter having been moved to the new I. O. O. F. building on Second-st. Mr. Owens has been rearranging and improving his new stand this week.

JENKINS TEAM PLAYED TWO GAMES HERE.

The Y. M. C. A. team of Jenkins came here last Friday to play two games of basketball with Pikeville teams. The first game was played Friday afternoon with the high school team. The result of this game was disastrous for the Jenkins men, the score at the close reading 40 to 24 in favor of the high school team. The Y. M. C. A. team has held a splendid record for the season, and it is said this is the first game that they had lost with a foreign team, though they had several times engaged the Huntington teams and others of high reputation.

The second game took place Saturday morning in the high school Gym with the team of Pikeville College playing Jenkins. In the first half of this game a splendid lead was held by the College men, who were inferior both in weight and practice, though they put up some splendid playing, led by their coach, Prof. Westlund. This game ended 21 to 16 in favor of Jenkins, but unfair methods are charged to them in regaining their losses. During the intermission between the first and second halves it is claimed the Jenkins boys decided to get Prof. Westlund out of the game, he being a man of small stature and perhaps the best player on the College team. During the second half he was twice "slugged" and fell to the floor and had to be carried into the open air. Several spectators who saw what happened came down to the floor in a very wrathful spirit, and trouble was narrowly averted.

The Jenkins boys were kindly received and well treated here, and their conduct was a very great surprise to their hosts.

This closes the basketball season for Pikeville this year since the baseball season will soon open.

NEW REVIVAL OPENS.

On next Tuesday a series of revival meetings will be opened in the First Methodist Episcopal Church to continue indefinitely. The pastor, Rev. M. C. Reynolds, will conduct these meetings and he will be assisted by Rev. William Davenport, the District Superintendent, also by Rev. Wade Rowe, pastor of the Pikeville Circuit, and Rev. J. H. Anderson, pastor of the Methodist church of Ashland.

Rev. McEldowney Here.

The revival which has been in progress at the M. E. Church, South, during the past month has been well attended, and many times the large church auditorium was crowded to the limit of its capacity. This was the case last Sunday evening, Rev. L. E. McEldowney, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of Louisville, has been preaching in this revival during the past week, and the song services under the leadership of Prof. L. P. Kirk of Inez is a very interesting feature of these meetings. All singers are cordially invited to attend and lend their assistance.

The night sessions of Circuit Court have been discontinued for the sake of the meeting.

COUNTY'S FINANCES IN GOOD CONDITION.

County Judge H. H. Stallard last Monday gave some idea of the excellent condition of the financial condition of Pike-co., when he said that the county is free from debt and that there is a sufficient fund in the treasury to pay this county's part for the building of the new interstate bridge across the Tug river near Williamson, and still there would be a surplus left. By a financial standing, and if there are any claims now outstanding they will be paid promptly upon presentation in full. This, however, does not include the debt of the school fund for the building of the new high school; but there is ample time on this claim, and it will also be met with ease.

Judge Stallard has no doubt that at the coming May election for the issuing of bonds for good roads in Pike county the people will vote overwhelmingly for the bond issue since no increase in taxation will be necessary to pay off the bonds as they mature. He has already received letters from applicants who want to buy these bonds.

In common with other leading citizens he has been very active in getting the movement started which will without doubt result in giving to this county the advantage of a perfect roads system. Behind him are the will and wishes of the people for the success of the enterprise.

MCCOY TRIAL POSTPONED.

The trial of Polly McCoy, charged with the poisoning of her husband on Coon creek last fall, will not be heard at this term of the Circuit Court but has been set for the May term. Mrs. McCoy has been released under bond pending the trial.

Coon McCoy was found dying by neighbors who heard his calls for aid at his home one morning last fall. It was said that he had taken a drink from a bottle of whisky to which a large quantity of strychnin had been added. He lived only for a brief time after taking the fatal draught, and a post mortem examination of the stomach, which was taken from the body and sent to Bowling Green, established the fact that death was the result of the poisoning.

PRESTONSBURG CITIZENS LIKE PIKEVILLE CHURCHES.

The M. E. Church, South of Prestonsburg is preparing to put up a new church building on the George Archer property on upper Second-st., opposite the property of Col. Jack Davidson. This is to be a handsome brick structure, and the site for it will be donated to the church by Mr. Archer, the banker. A delegation of Prestonsburg citizens came to Pikeville Wednesday among other things to look at the church buildings of Pikeville in order to get the best ideas of the architecture of the churches of this city to be embodied in the new church at Prestonsburg. Hon. W. S. Harkins, attorney F. A. Hopkins, Walter Wells, Will Jones and the Rev. Mr. Jackson, pastor of the church, were among the delegation. They were impressed with the exterior of the M. E. Church, South, but the acoustic arrangement of the interior of the First M. E. Church seems to have held the favor of the delegation. They also looked at the new high school building before departing.
